CERTIFICATE

Mr. Muhammad Zaid Ather, born on February 2, 2003, took part in an internship from January 16, 2026 until April 15, 2026 in our department Global Consulting Services.

At BASF, we create chemistry for a sustainable future. We combine economic success with environmental protection and social responsibility. Our portfolio is organized into six segments: Chemicals, Materials, Industrial Solutions, Surface Technologies, Nutrition & Care and Agricultural Solutions.

Mr. Ather was responsible for the following tasks:

- Digitization and automation of a client survey tool by replacing Excel-based workflows with a centralized Python (Streamlit) application, including the development of scalable data pipelines for data ingestion, validation, and transformation
- Integration of PostgreSQL (via SQLAlchemy), implementation of role-based access control (RBAC) with LDAP authentication, and development of real-time dashboards for workflow tracking and review processes
- Deployment via an internal app store, resulting in reduced manual effort, improved data quality, and faster data-driven decision-making
- Support of BASF's Management Consulting Data Lab services by delivering analytical solutions, establishing data governance processes, and enhancing consultants' analytical capabilities and portfolio

During his stay Mr. Ather also participated in activities related to the internship.

Mr. Ather demonstrated extraordinary initiative, great diligence and motivation at all times and always completed his tasks in a highly goal-oriented manner. He also had a very rapid grasp of new information and was very flexible. Mr. Ather displayed good analytical skills and judgment even when faced with difficult tasks. Thanks to his good prior knowledge and skills and his engagement, he acquired good practical experience within just a short time.

Mr. Ather also made highly extensive use of the opportunities offered to him in every respect and the outstanding quality of his work even when facing changing requirements was impressive. He was also an extremely conscientious intern who worked independently and always performed his tasks in a well planned and systematic manner. He completed the tasks assigned to him to our utmost satisfaction at all times. His performance far exceeded our expectations and requirements.

Mr. Ather was a responsible intern who integrated himself very well into the existing team and who was held in high esteem by his superiors and colleagues at all times for his friendly, obliging manner. His work with our customers deserves special mention, it was excellent at all times and he always responded to customers' wishes and concerns flexibly and in a service-oriented manner. His conduct toward his superiors, colleagues and customers was always exemplary.
